

File Manager (FMIS - FOODS)

The File Management Information System (FMIS) is designed to organize, store, and manage digital documents securely. It enables easy access, version control, and document tracking, ensuring that important files are properly maintained and readily available when needed.